

Baby Shares Jesus

by Adventist Mission

Hadassa is eight years old, and she has already been telling people about Jesus for eight years. How is that possible? Can a little baby talk about Jesus? That's exactly what Hadassa has done in Brazil.

It all started before Hadassa was born. Dad and Mom really, really wanted to have a baby. They prayed and prayed. They waited and waited. But nothing happened. They prayed and waited some more.

"God, if You give us a child, we will be so thankful," Mom said.

"God, if You don't give us a child, we will still serve You," Dad said. "But if You do give us a child, we will give the child to You."

Then one day, Mom gave birth to little Hadassa. Dad remembered his promise. From the day that Hadassa was born, he and Mom dedicated her to God. They started training Hadassa to be a missionary. When Hadassa was only a month old, Dad and Mom began to take her out to share Christian books on Sabbath afternoons. Dad or Mom carried her in their arms, and they visited with people waiting in their cars at red traffic lights.

People were delighted to see the little baby. "Ooo, she's so cute!" they said. Dad and Mom smiled back and offered Christian books. They also offered to pray. Many people accepted books and prayers. "God bless you," said one. "God bless your family," said another. Almost everyone said, "God bless your little daughter."

When Hadassa was 2, she began to hand out books by herself. She also began to pray by herself.

One Sabbath afternoon, a mom waiting in a car at a red light squealed, "Ooo, she's so cute!"

Dad and Mom smiled and gave Hadassa a Christian book to give to the mom. When the mom took the book, Dad said to Hadassa, "Pray for her. Ask for her name, and pray for her."

Hadassa asked the mom for her name and learned that it was Maria. "Can I pray for you?" she asked. Maria agreed, and Hadassa prayed, "Father in heaven, bless Maria and her family." Maria was pleased.

"God bless you," she told Hadassa's parents. "God bless your family. God bless your little daughter."

People liked it when Hadassa prayed for them. Some people cried. Other people thanked her. Still others said, “I needed that at this exact moment. It was God who sent you.” Hadassa loved handing out books and praying. She didn’t feel nervous at all. She was happy because she was helping people.

Today, Hadassa is 8, and she still enjoys passing out books and praying for people at traffic stops. But she also gives Bible studies to her school classmates and preaches at church. More than anything, she wants to be a missionary when she grows up. “To be a missionary I need to read the Bible, pray, and praise God,” she said. “This is how God is going to help me be a great missionary.”

Catalina and her parents served at missionaries with Adventist Volunteer Service on Easter Island. This story has been shared with permission of Adventist Mission.
